Heavy Discount on the Profits of the Sheriff's Office.

In the palmy Ring days James H. Ingersoll, in addion to being one of the directors of the Tenth Na-onal Bank of this city, was the owner of 600 shares f the capital stock, the amount of the capital stock at hat time being $1,000,000 and the shares $100 each. a Ingersoil, the father of James H. Ingersoil, is that in October, 1871, he purchased from the rethe shares in question, and demanded, as he ala transfer of the same to his name on the cooks to bank, which request, however, was not comwith. In the early part of the present year the il stock of the bank was reduced to $500,000, and apon, as Mr. Lorin Ingersoll further alleges, he red his old certificate and demanded a new one tal stock standing on the books of the bank in the in which he asks a transfer of 300 shares of the reduced capital stock standing on the books of the bank in the name of James H. Ingersoll, and that a certificate therefor be issued to him. In his complaint he further demands that the bank pay to him forty percent in cash upon the amount in value of his stock, together with $1,500 dividend in gold, his prorata share upon the dividend paid in Jamaury, 1874.

On behalf of the bank at answer has yet been put in to this complaint. The case came up yesterday before Judge Speir, holding Superior Court, Special Term. Mr. Amos G. Hull appeared on behalf of Mr. Ingersoll and Mr J. Henry Work represented the Tenth Nasional Bank. The latter insisted that owing to the peculiar features of the case it would require a good deal of time to prepare an answer. He claimed that it is son and that his son had been connected with the Ring, and intimated because the son had been connected with the Ring that the father must be in some way to blame. Mr. Hull, in behalf of the plaintiff, contended that it was irregular to go before a judge not slitting in chambers and obtain an exparte order extending time slicer another judge had once denied the extension He said further that he had read of a doctrine which indicted the sins of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generations, but had never heard of that doctrine having a retroactive application and punishing the father for the alleged faults of the son. Mr. Hull said, further, that he had known his client, Mr. Lorin ingersoll, for years, and knew him to be a most upright and conscientious man. Bestdes, the bank for which he is attorney is more interested in this than Mr. Lorin Ingersoll, was a partner; that Mr. Lagersoll was partner; that Mr. Ingersoll, he then went on to explain that a suit was brought in behalf of the city nearly two years ago against Ingersoll, was an apaper to the examination of Mr. Wheeler H. Peckham, the counsel for the city, and that after a brief examination he case was withdrawn at the insta

CENTRAL BRANCH, UNION PACIFIC. The suit of Samuel L. Tredwell against Ralph M. omeroy and others was formally begun in Specia; erm, Supreme Court, yesterday before Judge Larre-This suit, so often referred to within the past three years, involves the construction of the Atchison and Pike's Peak Railroad and an accounting of the co-partnership assets under what is known as the Osborn contract. A printed copy of the contract made be-ween William Osborn and the Atchison and Pike's Peak Railroad Company, dated May 9, 1865, and agree-the railroad company passed May 8, 1868, relating to the execution of this contract. This was objected to by Mr. William A. Beach, counsel for the palintiff, Judge Fulierton, for the defendants, instituted that it was admissible to show that the contract was void as being made by the directors of a railroad company who were themselves to be interested in the contract as assigness. Mr. Beach insuited that it was not proper on cross-examination, and further, that the question raised in this litigation might as well be orought forward and settled at once, and that the question of the validity of the contract had no relevancy to the issues involved in this trial; that the suit was brought for dissolution of the copartnership formed for building the road and an accounting among the copartners; that as it was an undisputed fact that these contractors built the road, anyone of them had the right to a decree dissolving the copartnership, winding up its affatrs, paying its debts and dividing the profits, if any; that the validity of the contract made the same and the same and the same and the railroad company, if the company to this action; that in an action for an accounting among partners no one but the partners themselves are proper parties to the suit, but that the defendants were nasty in questioning the validity of the countract, and that all the stockholders were partners in the contract, and, therefore, so one was injured, but all allike were leneated. Judge Larreguore stated that the defendants in their answer set up allimatively the lesioned that the directors of the company who made the contract were Senator Pomeroy, of Kansas, willis Gaylord, Edingham H. Nichols, James Wadsworth, company were admissible. It appeared by the minister that the directors in the contract and that the their close that on further cross-examination it appeared that of these, Ware, Stringfellow and Bush, had no laterest in the contract and that the sontractors, for money paid in on stock subscriptions and the contractors to find out

TELEGRAPH PATENTS LITIGATION. FELEGRAPH PATENTS LITIGATION.

A suit in equity has been brought in the United states Circuit Court by George Harrington and Thomas a. Edison against the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company and Jay Gould. The plaintiffs claim to hold the title to Edison's inventions of improvements in chemical automatic telegraphy and duplex and quadruplex telegraphy. The complaint sets forth that Edison obtained a great number of patents for his inventions and has applications pending for many more, and that the parties associated with him have expended several hundred thousand dollars in developing these inventions. On December 30, 1874, as turther alleged in the complaint, an agreement in writing was these inventions. On December 30, 1874, as further sileged in the complaint, an agreement in writing was entered into between J. C. Reiff and John Medianus, acting in behalf of the beneficial owners of the inventions, and Jay Goold, in the interest of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company, whereby it was declared by Gould, Reiff and Medianus that they would heartily co-operate in placing the ownership of the automatic system in the Atlantic and Reiff Telegraph Company, which was to increase its capital from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 of the additional stock. General Eckert was to be the president, Mr. Edison the electrician, and Mr. B. C. Craig was to organize the news department. Mr. Harrington, who held the title se the gatents is trust, ratified this bargain, and on the

EX-SHERIFF BRENNAN'S SUIT.

Ex- Sheriff Brenuan's suit against the city to re having summed up on the previous day all that re-Judge's charge. The charge was brief but clear and pointed. He said that the case, although presenting many difficult questions, was not so complex as necessarily to confuse the minds of the jury. The only question to be determined was whether Mr. Brennan's sarily to confuse the minds of the jury. The only question to be determined was whether Mr. Brennan's charges were correct and honest. If the charges were correct then Mr. Brennan was entitled to recover a verdict; if, on the countrary, his bills were tainted with fraud, they were litegal so far as any excessive charges or faise charges could be proved to the satisfaction of the jury. A good deal has been said about the power of the Board of Supervisors. He remarked that the audit of the Board of Supervisors was final, so far as it related to the question whether the items of the Sheriff's bills were county charges or not; but they had no power to audit fraudulent bills, and if the jury thought the bills dishonest, this audit of the Board of Supervisors had nothing to do with it. The Sheriff' was entitled to a verdet if it could be made to appear that his reports to the Secretary of State were correct; but if the reports were incorrect and the plaintiff knew them to be incorrect he should not be allowed to profit by his own fraud. The frauds of Tweed, Sweeny and the other members of the Ring had nothing to do with Mr. Brennan; it was $p$ evidence against him; his bill should stand or fall on its own fierits. In concussion, Judge Van Hoesen stated that the jury might find for a lesser amount than the sum a saimed if they thought any portion of the bill was excessive.

After an absence of about an hour the jury returned with a verdet for $35, 613 63 in favor of the city.

Coursel for plaintiff moved for a new trial, but Judge Van Hoesen denied the motion.

"I can't say that i am pleased," said Mr. Strahan, shrugging his shoulders, "but it does not very greatly surprise me, considering the circumstances under which the case was brought to trial."

"To what circumstances do you attribute the verdet and were samply the victims of the reform movement."

"We are simply the victims of the reform movement."

An action possessing some more than ordinary points of interest to capitalists and others occasionally dealing in negotiable bonds was held yesterday in Marine Court, Part 2, before Judge Goepp. In 1869 Mr. Dowes, a merchant in this city, with offices in Front street, was the possessor of several first mortgage bonds of $1,000 each of the Central Park, North and East River Railroad Company. In March of that year his office was broken into and bonds of various dependent of the company of the compa Peak Railroad Company, dated May 9, 1865, and agreements between the parties intersted therein, were produced, the substance of which has already been given in the Heraln.

Mr. James Wadsworth was the first witness called, and examined by Mr. S. C. Mount, of counsel for the plaintiff. In his direct examination he affirmed in delail the contract referred to. On his cross-examination the defendants offered in evidence a resolution of the railroad company passed May 8, 1865, relating to the execution of this contract. This was objected to by Mr. William A. Beach, counsel for the palintiff. Dower, to recover possession of the company of the question turned on the good faith or otherwise of the defendants. Insisted that it the defendant when he made the purchase. On this point the closest scrutiny between the real 564 bond and the altered one from 504 to 564 failed to detect the alteration in the figures. Dr. Doremus was present with a magnifying glass, to which he subjected the altered bond and the coupons, and explained in a scientific manner to the Court and jury the indications of the forgery. The defendant proved that he bought the bond in the ordinary course of business and without notice or knowledge of any alteration in the numbers. The Court held that the alteration was not so apparent as to put a bona fide purchaser upon notices, and that he who buys a negotiable bond in market overtacquires a good titie, even though the bond be stolen, and accordingly dismissed the complaint.

A POSTMASTER ON TRIAL. In the United States Circuit Court yesterday, before Judge Benedict, the case of William H. Burchard, formerly postmaster at Florida, Orango county, N. Y., was called up for trial. The accused did not appear, he being out on bail, and the trial of the case proceeded in his absence. A portion of the testimony for the government was put in, when the District Attorney moved that at this stage the case be adjusted until to. ernment was put in, when the District Attorney moved that at this stage the case be adjourned until to-day. Burchard was a member of the firm of Burchard & Wells, doing a general business in the town of Florida. The charge against him is that he obtained indorsements of notes from various persons in his vicinity, and when the notes matured and the customary notices were deposited in the Post Office to be forwarded to the indorsers, he held them back. After indictment by the United States Grand Jury upon the charge of having fraudulently obtained indorsements on negotiable notes Burchard sheconded, but was subsequently arrested at the house of a relative in New Jersey and admitted to bail. The District Attorney has folegraphed to him to appear to-day, so that the trial may proceed.

A DESPERATE CHARACTER SENT TO PRISON. Louis Martin, alias Jack Kennedy, alias Steamboat Louis Martin, alias Jack Kennedy, alias Steamboat Jack, who says he resided at No. 450 Ninth avenue, and is a boatman by occupation, was arraigned by Assistant District Attorney Bell yesterday. There were two indictments against the prisoner. One charged him with robbery in the first degree in stealing from Benjamin Freidenberg a box of shoes worth $15. The other indictment alleged that he, on the night of February 12, feloniously assaulted with a knife one James J. Ryan, at No. 11 Hoboken street. Martin pleaded guilty to both indictments and year sentenced to ten years in the State Prison.

HARLEM BUPFIANS SENTENCED

John Clark and George White, two desperate rufflans, who for a long time infested the vicinity of 114th atreet, were disposed of yesterday. On the night of the 10th inst. they entered the house of Colone H. Wise, No. 306 East 114th street, and stole a quantity of jewelry, valued at $83, with which they escaped. The police were then put upon their track. One week later they entered the residence of Joseph Eggloston, No. 346 East 114th street, at midnight through the basement door, and were about to ransack the premises when they were heard by Mr. Eggleston and his brother, who attacked the rufflans. White, finding himself in the class of one of the brothers, drew a pissol and threatened to blow the gentleman's brains out. He was thereupon released and, with his companion, escaped from the house. They were, a short time afterwart, arrested and indicted by the Grand Jury. They pleaded guity and were each sent to State Prison for five years. AFTER TWO YEARS.

Mr. Predericks chased his assailants till Officer Patrick Kennedy, of the Seventeenth precinct, captured Ruyter and found the handkerchief in his possession. The other man, who is said to be a very bad character, escaped. Buyter yesterday pleaded guilty to larceny from the person and was sent to the Penitentiary for one year.

TOMBS POLICE COURT.

Before Justice Wandell.

AN ALLEGED SWIN, LING TRANSACTION.

Daniel Stratton, of Vine and, N. J., was yesterday arrangeed before Justice Wandell on a charge of awarding. The complainant, Mrs. El Dora Louie, of No. 224 Seventh avenue, testified in her affidavit that No. 224 Seventh avenue, testified in her affidavit that on the 18th of October, 1873, the defendant came to her and represented that he was an attorney-at-law and the owner of a farm of sixteen acres at Vincland, where he resided. The farm, which he said was free of incumbrances, Stratton proposed to exchange for household and other property that Mrs. Lone possessed. The latter, believing the statements thus made to be true, accepted the proposition, deeded her goods and effects to Stratton and received in return a title deed of the farm. She shortly atterward ascentained that there were two mortgages on the property of $1,500 each, that they had just been foreclosed, and that she had thos no longer any claim on the tarm. She also found that Stratton was not a lawyer, as he had represented. The prisoner denied the charges and demanded an examination, which the Court set down for this afternoon, pending which bail was fixed at $5,000.

PACIFIC MAIL FIGHTING IRWIN.

The old civil suit by the Pacific Mail Steamship Com-The old civil ant by the Pacific Rail Steamanp Com-pany to recover $750,000 from Mr. Irwin was continued yesterday before Mr. S. B. Brownell, referee, at No. 38 Wall street, under an order of the Superior Court. This reference is distinct from the proceedings against Mr. Irwin in the Municipal District Court. The company represented by Mr. H. S. Bennett. Rufus Hatch was present, with Mr. J. Vanderpoel as legal adviser. Mr. Judge Fullerion. The Pacific Mail Company had one of its bookkeepers present.

Mr. Fullerton opened the proceedings by from the minutes of the meeting of directors of Pacific Mail of August, 1873, naming a committee on the Stockwell compromise.

Mr. Hatch (interrupting)—Put down that I was not on that committee. Read the full minutes and they will show it.

Mr. Hatch-Now, you go on and I will meet you. That book does not belong to you; it belongs to the Pacific Mail Company.

Mr. Fullerton—Now, Mr. Referee, this interference by this man must be stopped. If you do not protect me I will protect myself. Adjourn or go on.

Referee-I will make an order if it is desired. Mr. Fullerton—I will now read a part of the pro-seedings of the Board of Directors held on October 22.

1873, by request of Directors Scott and Hatch.

Mr. Vandepool objected. Objection noted and part of minutes read, showing proposition of Stockwell for settlements in exchange for 10,000 shares of Pacific Mail Company's stock. While Mr. Fullerton was read-Mail Company's stock. While Mr. Fullerton was reading Mr. Vanderpoel was looking over the minutes and correcting the lapsis lingue. The purport was that in consideration of the reconversion of those shares stockwell should have a release; the Howe Sewing Machine Company mortgage should be satisfied, and ceriam suits aiscontinued. Counsel read also a part of the minutes of the directors on March 6, 1874. Objected to and noted.

Mr. Hatch—I think the whole book ought to go in. Mr. Fullerton—Well, we'll cut you off on that. The ovidence shows that the cleim against Stockwell covers this very claim against Irwin.

Mr. Vanderpoel—The printed pleadings will show that the complaint against Irwin was sworn to in 1874. He got that money. In his evidence he says "the president of the company directed the money to be paid to me;" and I don't see how he is going to get his neck out of the halter.

Mr. Fullerton—His neck isn't in the halter. The neck out of the halter.

Mr. Fullerton...His neck isn's in the halter. The evidence shows that Irwin expended the money just as he was directed to do. We find that the company gave a full and complete release to Stockwell of the $750,000.

Mr. Vanderpoel...The money was traced directly to Mr. Irwin. The questions are whether he applied the money properly and whether the money came lawfully into his hands.

Mr. Fullerton...The release of one wrongdoer releases alf.

Mr. Fullerton—The release of one wrongdoer releases alf.

Mr. Vanderpoel—Unfortunately the Court of Appeals bent me upon that very point.

Mr. Bennett—Mr. Hatch, at the time of the release of Stockwell, had the knowledge of the payment of $750,000 to Irwin been discovered?

Mr. Hatch (vooiferously)—No.

Mr. Bennett—Had the release been delivered when you went to Washington?

Mr. Hatch—No.

Mr. Bennett—In your negotiations with Stockwell did you know anything about the $750,000 paid to Irwin?

A.—No.

Mr. Bennett—When did you first learn of it?

Mr. Hatch—There was a committee—

Mr. Fullerton—I object.

Mr. Hatch—Appointed that had—

Mr. Fullerton—I tell you, sir, I object.

Mr. Hatch—I have been asked the question and I will tell the whole story in two minutes; but maybe you don't want me to. The committee had charge—

Mr. Fullerton—Mr. Referee, this must be stopped. I have objected and—

The referee here stopped the bantering, and pending the appearance of Mr. Russell Sage the reference was adjourned until Tuesday next at four P. M.

THE BOY HINES.

WHETHER OR NOT HE WAS TEMPTED TO STEAL THE MONEY-MR. FRANK S. HAST-INGS' OWN EVIDENCE.

Thomas Hines, a newsboy, was, it will be remembered, sentenced a few weeks ago to one year's imprisonment for having stolen from one of the outside pockets of Mr. Frank S. Hastings a ten cent stamp. In the report of the case published in the Herald it was stated that the two newsboys who were chased for the theit had been tempted to steal the stamp by Mr. Frank S. Hastings' own action. The general circumstances of the case, and the relative severity of the sentence, as well as the great misfortune to the boy himself, have. the case, and the relative severity of the sentence, as well as the great misfortune to the boy himself, have, since his conviction, been matters of everyday talk among a considerable number of people. Mr. Frank S. Hastings, in a letter published by the Breating.— First—That he did not tempt the boys to steal the money by "stopping on the sidewalk and pretending to gaze abstractedly at the upper story of a building, hoping the lads would take advantage of the opportunity." &c.

Second—That the boy was captured by a policeman without his assistance.

MR. HASTINGS' EVIDENCE.

Extracts from the testimony of Frank S. Hastings from official stenographer's notes:—
Q. Tell how it happened. A. I was walking along First row, above Ann street, in a northerly direction, opposite the new Post Office; I saw two boxs, one of which was the prisoner, eyeing my outside pocket, and, looking down, I saw that tacre was a stamp sticking out of one corner; I did not think much of it, except I noticed they were eyeing it, and I took a good look at them; I then looked up, I should think for about the space of three seconds, while the other boy stood alongside; they were winking at each other and pointing at me; after that the prisoner walked behind me; I looked, up about the space of three seconds, and I looked down again; I merely looked straight and all looked down again; I merely looked straight and all down again; I merely looked straight and stopped and I saw the prisoner turn—(illustrating); for instance, as I was standing there and he was standing there, looking at me; as soon as he got my ove he started to run; I chased him for about hair a block, when I met an officer who tried to stop him off; he jumped down into a barroom and the officer after him.

Q. You were watching for something of that sort?

A. As soon as I saw them—the boys—I was; I thought I would see how it was done, as it was only a little money.

I would see how it was done, as it was only a little money.

On the cross-examination Mr. Hastings said:—
Q. Did not you say you wanted to see how it was done, and you would look up and give them—the boys—a chance? A. Yes, sr.

In his letter also, Mr. Hastings took occasion to hint that young Hines was nothing more nor less than a professional thief. On the contrary, it appears beyond question of doubt that the lad has ever torne a good character, and has mainly contributed to the support of his mother, who lives at No. 153 Washington street. Messrs. Kaufman and Graimes attest his worthiness, in reply to Miss linogene Bradford's inquiry coffeering the lad say, under date of May 17, "with regard to Thomas Hines we can say that he worked for us for a year or more, siding boots, and as far as we know behaved himself well. The lady with whom he boarded spoke very well of him."

A strong effort will be made to restore the boy to liberty and usefulness. BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

An amendment of Alderman Morris to add "during the pleasure of the Common Council," was accepted and adopted. The resolution was adopted with the amendment by a vote of 13 yeas to 7 nays.

A resolution offered by Alderman Morris calling upon the Department of Parks to report why the order of the Board to complete the carriage way across Wasnington Park has not been compiled with was adopted.

A resolution offered by Alderman Morris asking the Commissioners of Public Works to report as to the finitum of public lamps in advertising liquor saloons, notels and coffee and cake saloons was defeated by a reference of the resolution to the Committee on Lamps.

Adderman Pinckney offered a resolution to provide an armory for the colored Skidmore Guards, and explained that, although not incorporated, the organization was composed of voteran soldlers who fought bravely at Petersburg. He asked that they have permission to occupy the vacant armory in Hail place, in rear of Tompkins Market. A hot discussion occurred upon the resolution, in which the democratic majority and the republican minority engaged, and the lie passed between Alderman Hillings and Alderman Purroy. In the first instance Mr. Renlly made an assertion ressecting upon Mr. Howland's action on the Committee on County Affairs, which was linally done, several colored members of the Skidmore Guards were in the lobby. Alderman Purroy defended the dispute amicably. Politicians about the City Hall deny that Commissioner Campbell, of the Public Works, is going to resign. The story has been affect for a week or tendays.

The surrender of West street, from Canal to Barelay streets, without consideration, to the New York Central and Hudson River Raitroad during the hours of darkness is likely to create a bitter opposition from the market men, merchants, shippers and other business men of the street.

PURSUIT OF A MURDERER.

STRANGE PERSISTENCY OF A FRIEND OF THE MURDERED MAN-THE STORY OF HIS WANDER-INGS AND SUPPERINGS-A LONG SEARCH FI-NALLY REWARDED-A DESPERADO IN CUSTODY

Patrick Kelley, a miner, formerly employed in the collieries at Moosic, has been arrested at Mahanoy City, Schuylkill county, and brought back to this county to answer for the killing of James Conroy, another miner, at Moosic, in January, 1874. Conroy was shot by Kelley, who fled. A man named John Jennings, who was the bosom companion of Conroy, at once took an oath that he would follow Kelley was shot by Kelley, who fied. A man named John Jonnings, who was the bosom companion of Conroy, at once took an oath that he would follow Kelley until he captured him and handed hint over to justice. In company with Owen McCue, a brother-in-law of the murdered man, he started in pursuit of Kelley. He had no clew to follow, but made a search of all the coal fields of this State, occasionally hearing of Kelley, but never being able to meet him. McCue got discouraged in a short time and returned home. Jennings continued, however, to that for the murderer of his friend and visited the coal regions of Ohio and Virginia. In the latter region he learned that a man answering Kelley's description had been a short time in the mines there, but had gone, with three others, to work in the silver mines of Nevada. On this slight clew Jennings started for the silver diggings. For months he traversed the mines of the great West, enduring much hardship and suffering, but could get no trace of the murderer. Finally, broken in health and aimost penniless, having spenithe earnings of years in his frutless scarch, Jennings returned home about a month ago. Two weeks ago, white in the lower part of this vailey, he was toold by a relative of Kelley's that he "might as well give up the idea of finding Fai, as he was sale in the old country, working in a mine in Eggand."

Jennings replied that Kelley might be beyond the reach of the law, but that if he was in Eggland he (Jennings) would find him and avenge with his own hand the murder of his friend. He accordingly was making arrangements to go to England. Last week he went to Mahanoy City to see some friends. While there he was tool by an old woman named Hughes that she believed the man he was looking for was working in a mine at Mahanoy. She described the person to whom she releared and the description exactly answered that of Kelley. Jennings resolved to get an officer and visit the mine. He accordingly went to Shensahodah and senge with the officer as one of a gang he had arrested som
